The new Burnley PUMA Power 12/13 training range is inspired by a return to the style of historic football shirts but with a distinctively modern look and feel. Taken directly from the Italian national team kit, the 1950's design has been reworked to deliver an antidote to the over designed, complicated kits of today.

Respectful of history but with a clean aesthetic and a modern sophistication, this new training range is something we believe all the fans of Burnley can relate to, and as such, will be proud to wear.

EDDIE HOWE

And so it begins...

Boss Eddie Howe looks forward to another eventful Championship campaign.

"EVERY POINT HAS TO BE EARNED AND I AM SURE TODAY WILL SEE BOTH TEAMS LOOKING TO GET OFF TO THE PERFECT START!"

Eddie Howe

Good afternoon everyone and welcome back to Turf Moor at the start of another season.

It hardly seems like two minutes since the last one finished, and after all the summer's preparation and planning, it's time to put things into practice.

Firstly, I'd like to offer a warm welcome to visiting manager Owen Coyle, his backroom staff, players and all the supporters who have made the short trip from Bolton.

Every point has to be earned and I am sure today will see both teams looking to get off to the perfect start.

Our own preparations have been very good, albeit at a cost as we lose Danny Ings for several months following his knee injury.

I am sure you all join me in wishing Danny all the very best and we look forward to welcoming him back fully fit in the near future. His form in pre-season was outstanding, which only adds to the disappointment of losing him.

This first set of programme notes also allows me to say a formal welcome to Turf Moor to all our summer signings.

New captain Jason Shackell, fellow defenders Joseph Mills and Luke O'Neill, midfielders Brian Stock and George Porter and striker Sam Vokes have all settled in really well - and they all bring their own strengths as we look to add vital competition to the squad.

We come into the season on the back of an excellent pre-season and, unusually ahead of the big kick off, a Capital One Cup game, which saw us safely secure a passage through to the second round.

The 3-1 win at Port Vale on Tuesday, which earned us a home tie with Plymouth Argyle, saw us needing to show both facets of our game.

We controlled things before half time and then showed good resilience after the break to protect our two-goal lead.

I was delighted with the application of the players and pleased to score three good goals.

However, these are early days and we will continue to play the game in the right manner because I believe that is ultimately the right way to get long-term benefits.

Finally, a word of thanks to all the supporters who have travelled to see us in pre-season and who attended the excellent fan day here at Turf Moor recently.

I thought the afternoon was a great success and reward for all those behind the scenes who helped to organise a day out for all the family.

I am fully supportive of such events because to me it's vitally important that we are one club, from top to bottom.

Hopefully, we can reap the collective benefits of that.

Get right behind the lads from the first whistle today. Your support is vital to us.

Enjoy the game

Eddie

JASON SHACKELL

Let Battle Commence!

Owen Coyle's Bolton are in town and the Clarets are ready to rumble.

"EVEN AS A NEW BOY I AM AWARE OF WHAT OWEN COYLE COMING BACK HERE MEANS TO EVERYONE."

Jason Shackell

Well here we go! The new Championship campaign is ready to go and for me it's a fresh start as a new player at a new club.

And let me begin by saying I couldn't be happier than to be wearing the claret and blue of Burnley.

I will also be wearing the captain's arm band, which is a great source of pride for me and leading the lads out this afternoon will be a massive honour.

It's something I will relish. I am looking forward to the challenge and hopefully I can help out some of the younger lads along the way as we tackle the ups and downs of a long season.

I have played at Turf Moor before, of course, but never on the home team. Without having a friendly here this season, playing in front of the home crowd is something I'm really looking forward to and hopefully we will get off to a positive start.

As ever, you will have a big role to play this season. We want to improve our home record but along the way we will inevitably have games when we don't play as well as everyone might want us to and they are the games when we will really need everybody.

When that support is right behind you that's when you can get that unlikely draw or that vital win and those points can all add up at the end of the season and get you where you want to be.

Hopefully that can be achieved with us all in it together and one thing I can guarantee will be that the boys will give everything at all times and hopefully you will see that and be right behind us.

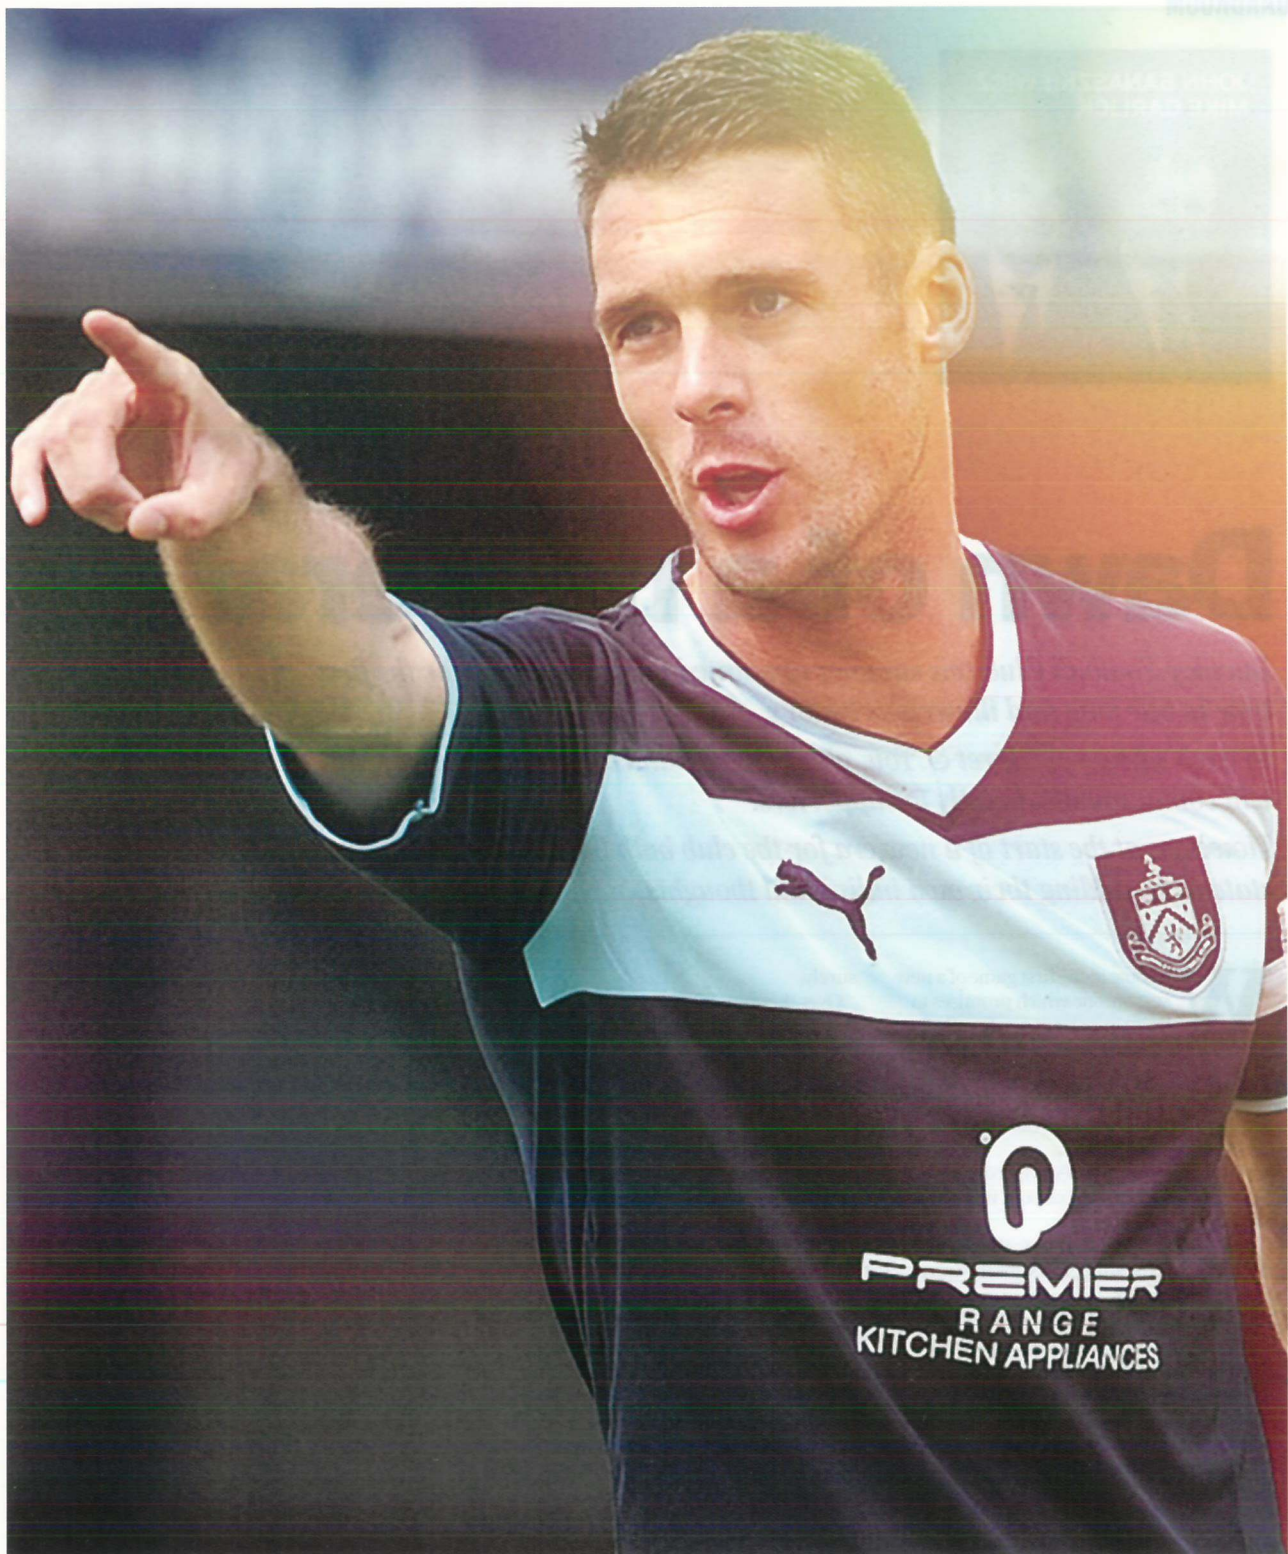

I have no doubt that will be the case today for what is a cracking way to start the League season. Even as a new boy I am aware of what Owen Coyle coming back here means to everyone. You can't argue that he did fantastically well as manager here but his return certainly makes it a big game for us.

It will bring that added bit of spice which could help lift us and give us that extra edge to try and get the result we need to give us all the perfect start.

We are fully aware of that and looking forward to the challenge. We have prepared as well as we can and I can't wait for kick-off.

Get behind the lads and let battle commence!

JOHN BANASZKIEWICZ
MIKE GARLICK

Dawn of a new era.

Burnley Football Club this summer appointed joint-Chairmen for the first time in our long and illustrious history.

In each edition of Claret & You, either John Banaszkievicz or Mike Garlick will communicate directly to supporters.

However, at the start of a new era for the club both have offered this joint statement, adding their own individual thoughts.

Welcome to the first game of a new season, one which promises to be an important one for all of us.

Firstly, our thanks must go to outgoing Chairman Barry Kilby for all his hard work and success in putting Burnley back on the footballing map during his excellent and eventful 12-year tenure.

Thanks also to the collective Board of Directors for entrusting us both with the future of this great club.

And finally, a huge thanks to the staff at the club and you, the supporters, for the warm welcome and many messages of support since we took charge in May.

We all aim to see more progress towards the goals we have set ourselves.

Our vision is a shared one and that is to continue to develop the club on and off the pitch.

Under an excellent manager in Eddie Howe, we want to improve on our finish last season, whilst supporting him and helping to improve all aspects of the club, slowly but surely.

Over the summer six new players have been added to the squad, all of whom suit our style of play.

Some of these are established, senior professionals and others are still learning and improving, but we know we can count on the supporters to give them your backing, especially as we look to improve our home form, which we all accept was disappointing last time around.

Off the pitch and over the past 12 months we have continued to build the infrastructure and buzz for a dynamic 'New Burnley'.

Our training facilities at Gawthorpe are exceptional, ensuring that our senior players, youth team and new recruits all have fantastic facilities and a sense of belonging to a great team and club.

We all need to be hungry and focused this season to move in one direction.

We need to be ambitious and creative, but we are all in it together and we will only achieve long-term success by sticking together as one family.

That means the Board, manager and his coaching team, players, internal club management and staff and, last but not most importantly, you the fans.

We're proud of being a family here, unlike some clubs which have little interaction with fans.

Speaking of which, a special mention and thanks today go to Claret'smad's Tony Scholes, who in the past 10 years has helped to donate over £50,000 to our Youth Team foundation.

In closing, we welcome Bolton Wanderers to Turf Moor for this Championship opener.

It promises to be a real local humdinger and hopefully, we can take the bragging rights and get our season off to a perfect start. Let's put everything into it.

Up the Clarets!

John Banaszkievicz and Mike Garlick

“OUR VISION IS A SHARED ONE AND THAT IS TO CONTINUE TO DEVELOP THE CLUB ON AND OFF THE PITCH.”

A message from Mike Garlick

As a lifelong fan, it is a huge honour to be joint Chairman of Burnley Football Club and entrusted with its welfare.

Football chairman come in all shapes and sizes (literally!), often desperate to install instant success in a sport promising unrivalled riches and fame if Premier League status can be achieved.

Some turn up with a blank cheque book, while others insist the purse strings remain taut and untouched.

This season we have to tread a fine line between trying to be as ambitious as we can, while ultimately living within our means; especially with the financial fair play rules just around the corner.

Both John and I have been greatly encouraged by our first few months here.

Match ticket sales and corporate sales are already above budget, and we take that as a sign of great support from the fans, for which we thank you.

A message from 'John B'

I was elected joint chairman of Burnley FC over the summer, and it gives me great pleasure to be working for this club, one of the finest and most respected in the country.

As a true Burnley fan hailing from Nelson just up the road, I will do everything I can to drive this ambitious club forward, in what has become a highly competitive Championship.

I want us to play the best football we can, but also to have fun while we do it.

I was privileged to attend the recent Olympics in London and witness the effort, dedication and motivation of Team GB.

It set me thinking and I'm hoping we can take our own inspiration from this – Team Go Burnley!

Turf Moor Given Golden Glow.

Olympic heroes Steven Burke, Samantha Murray, Jon Schofield and Sophie Hitchon have been invited to Turf Moor today as special guests of Burnley Football Club.

Clarets honour local Olympic heroes.

The quartet did Great Britain and East Lancashire proud with their memorable performances at the London Games.

And this is your chance to show your appreciation with the foursome due to be presented to the crowd before kick off.

The local medal rush was led by Colne cyclist Steve Burke.

Already a World Champion, the 24-year-old Burnley-born biker added Olympic gold as part of the all-conquering track cycling team.

In tandem with Ed Clancy, Pete Kennah and Geraint Thomas, Burke helped clock a new world record in the 4km event as Great Britain beat Australia to win gold in the team pursuit.

Clitheroe's Murray provided a fitting finish to GB's memorable Games campaign by taking silver in the final event – the modern pentathlon.

The 22-year-old world bronze medallist went one better in London to take Britain's overall medal tally to 65.

After fencing, swimming and horse jumping, Murray produced a superb run-shoot to climb up to second and take her place on the podium.

Fellow Ribble Valley athlete Schofield won a bronze medal in the kayak K2 200m.

Joining forces with Liam Heath, the Clitheroe-born paddler, 27, sprinted to glory at Eton Dorney to add an Olympic medal to the pair's European title.

And completing the line-up is Burnley hammer throw Hitchon.

The 21-year-old finished 12th in the final in front of a crowd of 80,000 in the Olympic Stadium.

But she still left London a star in the making and one to watch for the 2016 games in Brazil after a British record throw of 71.98 metres in qualifying.

Turf Moor Memories

This season Burnley Football Club celebrates 130 years at our spiritual home.

And award-winning match-day magazine Claret & You is at the heart of that year-long celebration with a series of memorable moments and milestones played out at Turf Moor to be featured throughout the season.

And in each edition we're keen to include as many of your memories as we can.

It could be your favourite game, the first match you attended, or even just a goal that has lived long in the mind.

Whatever your personal favourite, let us know about it in as much detail as possible and, if possible, include your name, contact details and a picture of yourself.

SUNDAY BEST FOR DERBIES

The two Championship derbies between Burnley and Blackburn Rovers have both been given new dates.

The Turf Moor clash, originally scheduled for Saturday, 1 December, will now take place the following day on Sunday, 2 December (kick-off 12.30pm).

The return game at Ewood Park has also been put back 24 hours and will now be played on Sunday, 17 March, again at 12.30pm.

Neither fixture has been scheduled for televised coverage at the present time.

Sign Up for Ladies Day

Burnley FC's famous Ladies Day is back and taking bookings NOW!

Previous Ladies Day events have been extremely successful and thanks to popular demand we are glad to say it's back - bigger and better than ever!

This year's Ladies Day - the ultimate girls' day out - takes place at the Burnley v Millwall match on Saturday, September 29.

Burnley FC will be laying on a special day of pampering, champagne, fine food, entertainment...and of course a game of football too! There may even be an appearance from a few of the players!

Tickets cost just £80 per lady (£60 for under 16's)

The efforts of all our Olympians lifted the nation and the Clarets' squad was no exception with new captain Jason Shackell leading the plaudits.

"The Olympics were fantastic," said Shackell.

"You see some of the stories and the dedication of the athletes is absolutely incredible.

"They have worked so hard and to see it pay off is a fantastic achievement.

"It's been great to watch and it can give you that bit of added motivation to go out and do as well as you can."

Plymouth Cup Date

The Clarets will take on Plymouth Argyle at Turf Moor in the second round of the Capital One Cup.

Burnley were handed a home tie against the League Two side after beating Port Vale 3-1 on Tuesday night.

The tie will be played on Tuesday 28 August (ko 7.45pm).

Mad For It

Before kick-off today, new joint chairman John Banaszekiewicz will accept a cheque from Clarets Mad for £10,000, raised through the fans' website to provide vital support for youth development at Turf Moor.

Burnley Football Club would like to thank Clarets Mad for their generous contribution.

And the winner is...

The Clarets' Lottery has produced a £10,000 winner!

The lucky recipient of the recent rollover jackpot was Mr Corps of Burnley.

To join the lottery and to be in with a chance of winning a range of cash prizes, ring 01282 700023 or call in to the Lottery Office at Turf Moor.

THE CLARETS TRUST

ONE CLUB ONE FUTURE

SAFE STANDING: WHERE DO YOU SIT?

Despite current legislation, The Football Supporters Federation (FSF) believes fans should have a choice whether to sit or stand.

The Safe Standing Roadshow (www.safestandingroadshow.co.uk) has demonstrated how 'rail seats' can work.

These flip-up seats, used in Germany, are UEFA compliant, and enable clubs to switch flexibly between all-seated and standing arrangements in designated areas.

5,000 Bristol City fans approve as do Wolves' supporter reps. Aston Villa's Chief Executive is interested, as are 12 SPL sides and 70% of Hull fans want to stand.

But what do Burnley fans think?

Clarets Trust is currently undecided, but if we are to lend our weight to a national campaign to allow some standing at games it is important we have an accurate measure of our fans' opinion.

In order to achieve this, please email Info@claretsrust.co.uk by 30th Sept, 2012 saying either:

Yes, I support re-introduction of standing or No, I don't.

If you would like to provide a brief explanation, please add no more than one sentence.

We will put the results on the Clarets Trust website, and in a later programme as well as conveying these to FSFederation, local MPs, and also to Burnley FC CEO Lee Hoos for information. Finally, at the start of a new season, with several new faces in the squad, let's give the lads our 100% backing as we strive for success.

Fancy getting involved?

Contact the Trust via our website. www.claretsrust.co.uk, email info@claretsrust.co.uk or write to 30 Deepark Rd, Burnley, Lancashire BB10 4SD.

Clarets Stock Up!

Boss delighted to add Brian Stock to his new recruits.

Midfield maestro Brian Stock completed Eddie Howe's close-season shopping list when he took the Clarets' number of summer signings to a round half-dozen.

Stock joined the Clarets from Doncaster Rovers for an undisclosed fee after signing a two-year deal at Turf Moor.

And Howe believes the Wales international, 30, will be an important acquisition to bolster his central midfield options.

"Brian was always a really talented player coming through at Bournemouth, exceptionally gifted on the ball, can see a pass and has had a good career at Doncaster," said Howe, a former teammate of Stock on the south coast.

"For us, with the way we want to play, when the opportunity came to sign him we jumped and I think he will be a good fit for us."

Stock's signing followed the capture of Jason Shackell, Sam Vokes, Joseph Mills, George Porter and Luke O'Neill as Howe re-built his squad for the new campaign.

Experienced defender Shackell has taken over the captain's armband, while the return of Vokes is a welcome one after the Wales international made a big impression on loan from Wolves last season.

Mills' signing on a season-long loan brings promotion-winning Championship experience to the left-back role, while right-back O'Neill and wingman Porter arrive at Turf Moor with the potential to become top young players.

"We are fortunate that the board have been good this summer and we have been able to do a few deals," added Howe.

"That's been excellent from our perspective. We felt it was needed because the squad was really thin on the ground.

"We are still a little bit light but we have given the squad a bit more depth."

Claret and You joins all supporters in wishing the new boys every success at Turf Moor.

BEAST OF A SEASON!

Barely before a ball has been kicked, 2012/13 already promises to be a big season for Brian Jensen.

The long-serving Clarets' goalkeeper signed a new 12-month deal over the summer.

And while the great Dane's first priority is to try and force his way into Eddie Howe's starting line-up, he has also been granted a testimonial for ten years' service at Turf Moor.

Jensen has made over 300 appearances for the Clarets since signing on a free transfer from West Bromwich Albion in June, 2003.

And so a benefit year, including a testimonial match, is a fitting reward for the 37-year-old shot-stopper.

"I always said it was my first priority to sign here again and I am really proud to be at the same club for 10 years," said Jensen.

"It's a great club, so I am very, very happy. But I'm not here just for a testimonial. I'm here to fight with all I can to get back into the side."

Goalkeeping understudy Jon Stewart also signed a new contract during pre-season and could now be allowed to head out on loan to further his development.

And the pair were joined in committing to the Clarets by striker Alex MacDonald, who also penned a new deal.

Barrow Boys in Action

Young professionals Joe Jackson and Tom Anderson are already up and running for the new campaign after signing on loan for AFC Barrow.

The pair have joined the Blue Square Premier side on loan until January as the Clarets' coaching staff looks to give first-team exposure to as many of their young players as possible.

The Blue Square season started last weekend and centre-back Anderson marked his first competitive game in senior football by helping the Bluebirds keep a clean sheet in a 0-0 draw with AFC Telford.

Nineteen-year-old striker Jackson also started that game as he began a second loan spell with his hometown club.

And the pair then featured in mid-week when they helped Barrow to another 0-0 draw with Hyde United.

Howe Tips Ings For The Top.

Boss Eddie Howe is backing Danny Ings to bounce back from his latest injury set-back and be a big hit for the Clarets.

Boss backs striker to come back stronger from injury woes.

Ings misses the start of the season for the second year in a row after picking up a knee injury in Burnley's final pre-season game.

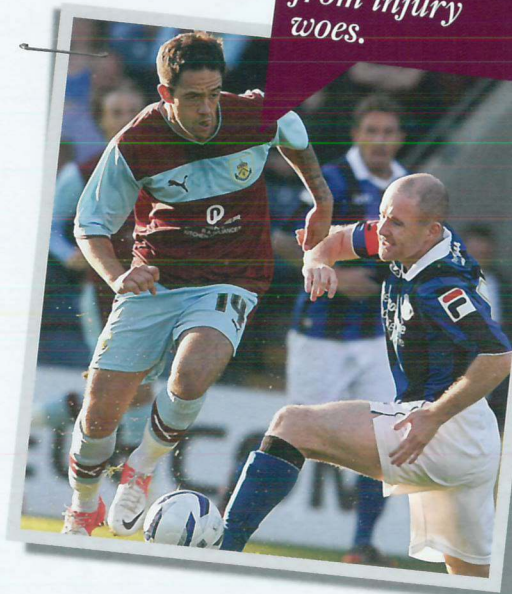

The 20-year-old striker will now be out for between three and six months after surgery to repair a torn cartilage.

A second spell on the sidelines comes as an untimely blow for Ings, who impressed at the end of last season with three goals in 12 appearances after recovering from an operation on his other knee.

But Howe expects the former Bournemouth frontman to rediscover that form when he regains fitness is and is tipping him for the top.

"It's a real shame, not just for us but for him it's heartbreaking," said Howe.

"It's really disappointing, especially as at the back end of last season and in pre-season he has been excellent. For someone who has just turned 20, what a talent he is.

"He's a top player and can still develop into a top-class player – a Premier League player in my opinion.

"We just have to stick with him and get him right again and do all we can to help him.

"Hopefully he's got a long career ahead of him."

Down Time for Cammy

Clarets' Olympian Cameron Howieson has been allowed to re-charge his batteries following a busy summer of international action.

The teenager midfielder made his full debut for New Zealand in June and then made three appearances for his country's Olympic team in the London Games.

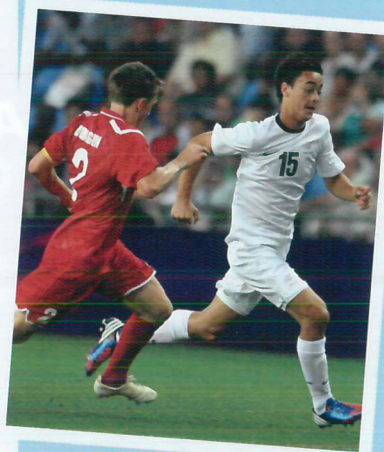

Howieson, who signed his first professional contract at Turf Moor in May, therefore missed Burnley's pre-season programme and is being given an extended break back home by boss Eddie Howe.

"We are desperate to get him with us but we have to look after the lads' welfare," said Howe.

"He has had over 12 months of non-stop football and a lot of travelling in that period of time as well.

"We decided to give him a month off and a total break so when he does come back he's fresh and ready to play.

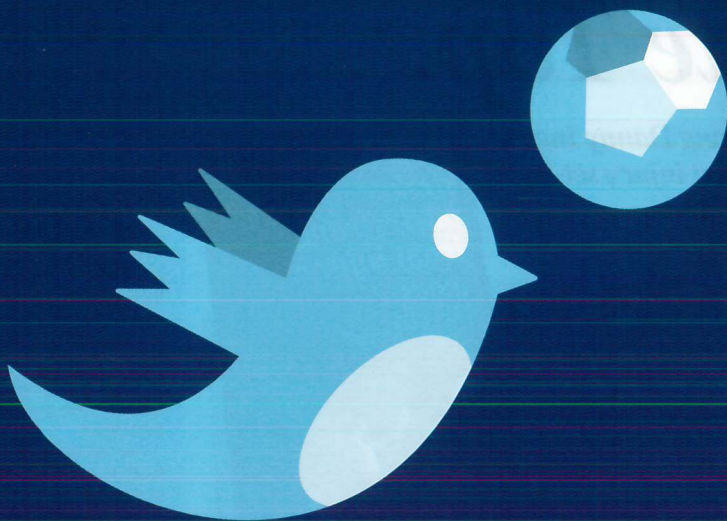

"The risk of burn-out and harming his career was too great."

SHACK ATTACK.

SUMMER SIGNING JASON SHACKELL IS READY TO EMBRACE HIS NEW CHALLENGE AT TURF MOOR.

It's said that what really matters in life's struggle is not the size of the dog in the fight, but more the size of the fight in the dog... >

Right: Jason Shackell before the match at Port Vale.

“You might have the nicest ground in the world but it’s about doing well on the pitch. That’s what matters.”

...And after joining Burnley’s scrap for Championship success it appears to be a view shared by new Clarets’ captain Jason Shackell.

No stranger to standing in the corner of the underdog, when Derby County opted to cash in on their defensive lynch-pin this summer, Shackell’s bags were packed for the third close-season in a row as he threw his weight behind Eddie Howe’s Claret crusade.

“Derby are a big club from the outside but I don’t think they have spent bundles of money in the past few years,” admitted Shackell, who penned a four-year deal at Turf Moor.

“I think they want it to run more as a business. I think they were maybe looking for some money to do a few things so I was looking to see what was about and when Burnley came in and I met the gaffer it was as no-brainer.

“I know people always say it, but it really was a no-brainer. He is a young manager and I think he is destined for big things.

“We got on well from our first meeting and continued that for the first month of pre-season and I’m sure we will carry it on more and more.”

Despite their recent history, the Clarets still need to punch above their weight to compete with a major city club like Derby. But for Shackell, who in recent seasons has starred for Doncaster and Barnsley, size clearly isn’t everything.

Tough in the Shackell: Jason goes in strong for Derby at Coventry last season.

“It’s a challenge. I think it’s a place where I can do well,” he said. “We have some really good players here and I am positive about our chances going into the season.

“We might not be the biggest club with the biggest ground but there are some very good players here who have played at this level and proved themselves.

“Not only is it a good squad, it’s a young, hungry squad as well, so I think they are exciting times for Burnley.

“You might have the nicest ground in the world but it’s about doing well on the pitch. That’s what matters.”

Substance before style has been a theme for Shackell in recent seasons as he has shown he is not afraid to get his hands dirty at the coal face, plying his trade in South Yorkshire at the Keepmoat Stadium and Oakwell to get his career back on an upward curve.

A rising star at Norwich City, where he started his career, Shackell had helped the Canaries to the Premier League in 2004. And even though a move to Wolves in 2008 didn’t bring him much in the way of old gold, he did contribute to another Championship promotion campaign before moving out on loan to Norwich and then Doncaster.

“I loved it at Norwich,” Shackell recalled. “I came up through the youth team and got to know the area well.

“I was there for about eight years and had the chance to play in the Premier League so it was a fantastic time for me and something I look back on with a big smile.

“I went to Wolves after the (2008/09) season had started and they started red hot so I found it hard to get in.

“I was on the fringes when they were doing well and they had a big squad so I never really established myself.

“But that happens at places and I still look back at it as a good thing. It was the first time I had left Norwich, my first move and the first time I had been out of my comfort zone.

“It made me grow up a little bit, to be honest, so I actually learned quite a lot, even though I didn’t play as many games as I wanted to. I still always look back at it as a positive.”

Shackell’s desire to be a first- ➤ team regular briefly took him back to Carrow Road and then, in 2009, on a season-long loan to Doncaster.

Injury restricted him to 23 games, but not before he had helped launch a campaign that saw Rovers finish 12th in the Championship.

“Doncaster was one of the best moves I ever made because it put me back in the shop window,” Shackell added.

“I worked with Sean O’Driscoll, who I got on really well with, and had a great year at Doncaster and got my move from Barnsley from there, which was the right thing for me. In the second half of the year at Doncaster I got injured so people were a bit nervous.

“But Barnsley took the chance on me and I repaid them by playing virtually every game in the season.

“I then got rewarded with my move to Derby and again I really enjoyed my time there. It’s a massive club with great lads but the things behind the scenes led towards me leaving and Burnley popped up. It was the right time and the right fit so I’m happy to be here.”

Having tried to sign Shackell before his move to Pride Park the 28-year-old, re-established as one of the top defenders in the Championship, was not to slip through Howe’s net again.

And having secured his experience and leadership skills, the Burnley boss wasted no time in handing him the captain’s armband, Shackell making a winning start in mid-week as he piloted the Clarets past Port Vale and into a second-round Capital One cup tie against Plymouth Argyle.

“I am still willing to improve myself and when it comes to leading, my natural game is to talk and give advice on the pitch,” said ‘Shacks’.

“Hopefully that helps people around me but it also helps me concentrate. I enjoy that part of the game.

“I couldn’t wait for the season to start and I know the lads are the same. It’s been a long, good pre-season. We have had a few games, including a good win the other night, and I think everybody is ready for the serious stuff now.

“Obviously you want to get off to a good start, there’s no point hiding away from that, and get into the winning habit and we will be doing everything we can to do that.”

Despite the added interest in trying to beat Owen Coyle’s Bolton this afternoon, nothing will be decided today or in the opening weeks of the season.

But the early exchanges could set the tone for the marathon ahead and Shackell makes no secret of what he hopes the season will deliver on a personal and collective basis as Howe’s new on-field general.

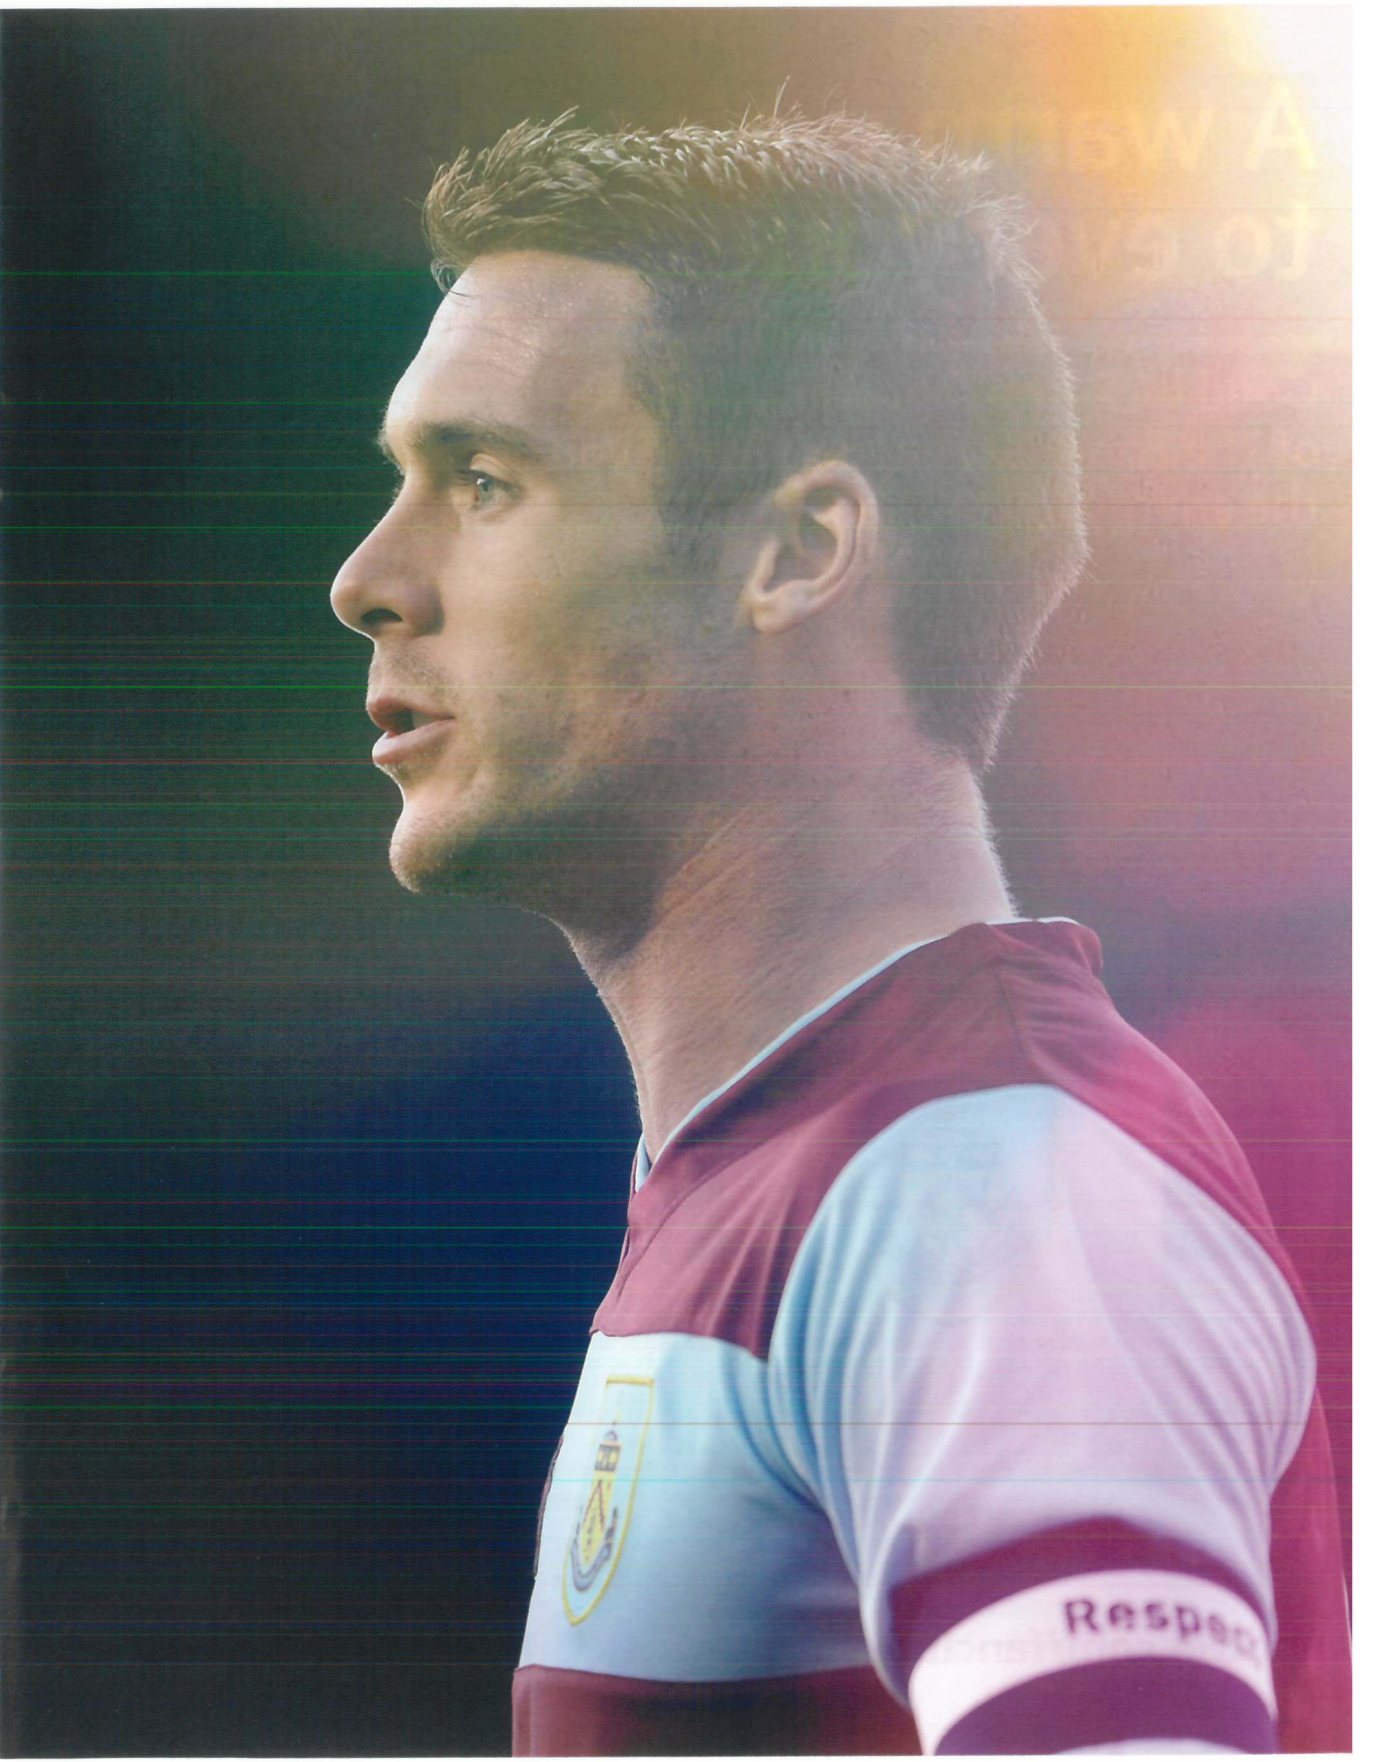

“I am hungry to do as well as I possibly can. You only get one chance at this,” he said.

“I want what everyone else wants. I want promotion and I want to have another chance at playing at the top level.

“That’s what we can hopefully aim for and strive together to do for Burnley Football Club.” ■

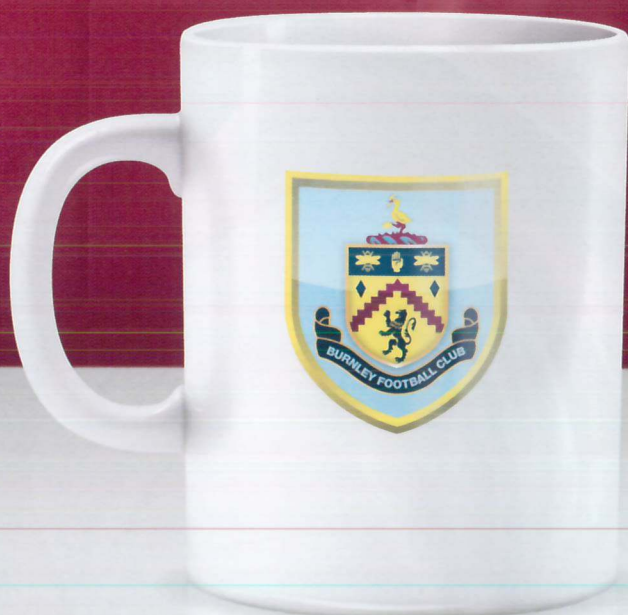

“I want what everyone else wants. I want promotion and I want to have another chance at playing at the top level.”

TURF MOOR, 1883

TURF MOOR MEMORIES.

A season-long celebration to commemorate the Clarets 130th season at our spiritual home.

This season Burnley Football Club celebrates 130 years since moving to Turf Moor in February 1883, just nine months after the club was founded on 18 May 1882.

On that date the members of Burnley Rovers Rugby Club gathered at the Bull Hotel in Burnley to consider a proposal that, from the following season, the club switch from rugby football to association football.

The proposal was approved and, a few days later, it was also agreed that the club would drop "Rovers" from its name.

Burnley Football Club was born!

At that time the club was playing its home games at Calder Vale, on land adjacent to where the new Burnley College now stands. In February 1883 an invitation was issued by Burnley Cricket Club for Burnley FC to relocate to Turf Moor, where cricket had been played for around 50 years. Burnley have now been based at their current ground longer than any other senior club in England, with the exception of Preston North End.

Throughout the current season Claret and You will feature milestone memories and images of Turf Moor over the years, together with a series of Clarets' supporters memories and anecdotes.

The image featured today is the oldest photograph of Turf Moor in the club's archives and dates from about 1905.

It was taken from the Bee Hole End, wooden stands can be seen on either side of the pitch, and the white building in the centre is the old Burnley Cricket Club pavilion.

ROBERT CLARKSON

This picture was taken at the end of the home game against Oxford United on 28 December 1999. It was the last game to be played at the Turf in the 1900s and was marked by the official opening of the Jimmy McIlroy stand. There was a parade by several players from the 1959/60 Championship team. We won the match 3-2 courtesy of an Andy Payton hat-trick. The photo shows me, Robert Clarkson with my granddaughter Jennifer, then aged six. Jennifer is currently a presenter with Bolton FM radio during her summer break from University.

BFC Media Manager
DARREN BENTLEY

The need to inspire a generation.

Media Manager Darren Bentley insists football must look to follow the Olympic legacy.

“THOSE WHO INVEST FINANCIALLY AND EMOTIONALLY IN THE GAME UNDERSTANDABLY HAVE A RIGHT TO EXPECT REASONABLE LEVELS OF BEHAVIOUR.”

Well, what a sporting summer that was! As the whistle blows to kick off a new Football League season today, the focus finally shifts back to domestic club football, after a smorgasbord of incredible action over the past few months was devoured by enthralled Brits.

The European Championships again showcased the best of international football (and England!), with Spain inevitably coming out on top of the pile again.

In golf, Ireland's Rory McIlroy again showed his incredible talent to land another major championship and establish himself as a potential successor to the all-conquering Tiger Woods.

But it was the Olympic Games that really provided the 'water cooler' moments and brought a nation to a standstill.

Nobody could have avoided the pre-games hype surrounding London 2012, even 200-plus miles away in the rain-sodden north.

But few, other than those involved at the sharp end, probably imagined it would live up to its billing.

However, the Games were undoubtedly the Greatest Show on Earth; in my eye totally eclipsing overhyped and often unfulfilling World Cups.

And at the very forefront of the success of London 2012 were the protagonists themselves.

Great Britain came together to place a succession of athletes who conquered in their own specialised field on a golden pedestal.

Jess Ennis, the pre-Games poster girl, became the darling of a nation, while Mo Farah was crowned king of the track.

The velodrome was electrified by our cyclists, while our rowers took to the water like, well, ducks to water!

Everywhere you looked there was a story of drama and unmissable sporting achievement unfolding.

In total, 29 times British olympians landed gold medals, eclipsing the 19 amassed in Beijing.

The overall haul of 47 medals four years ago was again overshadowed by the 65 this time out.

And here at Turf Moor today we are honoured and proud to have local athletes who competed so magnificently at London

“THE GAMES WERE UNDOUBTEDLY THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH”

2012 as our guests, and to rightfully receive the acknowledgement and adulation from the Burnley public.

Of course, with fame and achievement comes responsibility.

And it is really here where the athletes have excelled – and where football can learn.

For suddenly, the Beautiful Game has an awful lot to live up to.

Our athletes have been perfect ambassadors for their profession, happily facing the cameras whether they were winners or losers.

And where dreams may have crumbled, still they fronted up, often apologising for performances they felt let down friends, family; the nation.

They didn't, of course.

They just came up against a rival on the day who was faster, higher, longer or stronger.

But now the smiles have faded from our TV screens and all we can do is reflect on a whole host of memories... we're also left with a great big void.

Football will, for most reading this magazine, fill that sport-shaped hole.

And following the example set by London 2012, the time has surely also come for football to rebuild its tarnished reputation.

Recent seasons have seen a litany of off-field shenanigans heap shame on football – and this summer that spilled back onto the field following John Terry's well publicised court case, where despite being acquitted of racial abuse towards Anton Ferdinand, he still faces an FA charge.

In an era where footballers, especially those at the very top level, continue to earn salaries most mere mortals – even Olympic athletes – can only dream of, those who invest financially and emotionally in the game understandably have a right to expect reasonable levels of behaviour.

Football is not cheap and younger fans still put their heroes on a similar, maybe even a greater pedestal than those gold medallists.

I'd like to think that here at Burnley we don't have any of the issues that blight the game,

The recent Turf Moor FanDay really cemented the relationship between player and fan, as our entire squad spent a good hour signing the barrage of memorabilia, after posing for the team photo in today's centre pages with nearly 1,000 supporters.

But as the whistle blows up and down the country today, football's paying public's emotional investment in sport has been re-aligned.

The Olympic legacy is still to be written.

But the slogan that accompanied the game was a bold one: Inspire a Generation. Athletes lived up to that promise.

Footballers now have to raise the bar and follow suit.

Chris McCann equalises for the Clarets

Three first-half goals gave the Clarets the perfect start to the new season as they came from behind to book a second round clash with Plymouth in the Capital One Cup.

Chris McCann and Dean Marney both scored for the first time this year as Burnley cancelled out Chris Shuker's early strike.

And with the in-form Charlie Austin picking up where he left off last season by popping up to notch in between, Eddie Howe's side had enough in hand to weather a second-half storm from League Two Vale.

With half a dozen players missing through international commitments and injury, Howe faced limited options but went with three of his new summer signings in his first starting line-up of the campaign.

New captain Jason Shackell, Joseph Mills and Brian Stock all made their competitive debuts but within nine minutes they found themselves a goal down as Shuker's free-kick curled straight in.

That gave the underdogs just the start they needed but the lead didn't last long as McCann quickly headed Burnley level from a Ross Wallace corner.

Austin then celebrated the birth of his new baby daughter by putting Burnley ahead after Marney had intercepted a poor back-pass from Vale centre-back Joe Davis.

And when Marney scored a superb solo effort just before the break, the Clarets looked to be in complete control.

To Vale's credit it didn't work out that way as they came out all guns blazing in the second half.

But with inspired goalkeeper Lee Grant repelling anything they could throw at him, the Clarets did what they needed to keep alive the prospect of another cup run.

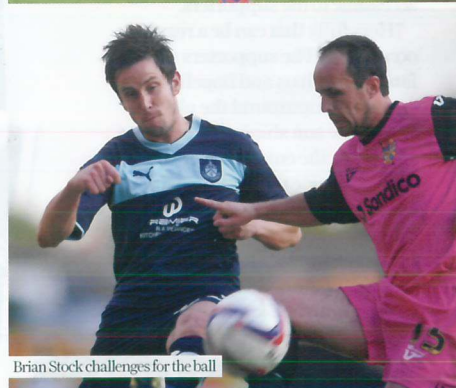

"WE NEED TO MAKE SURE WE CONTINUE TO IMPROVE BUT I AM PLEASED WITH THE WIN AND THAT GIVES US REAL MOMENTUM GOING INTO SATURDAY."

Fan Day, Fun Day.

The Clarets' Fan Day looks set to be become an annual event after Turf Moor welcomed in thousands of supporters for a successful curtain-raiser for the new season.

Eddie Howe conducted an open training session as fans were able to see his first-team squad – including new signing Brian Stock after he was introduced to the crowd – go through their paces.

The players then spent almost an hour signing autographs and chatting to supporters, while others underwent massages to give fans a further glance behind the scenes.

But perhaps the highlight of the day was a special team photo taken with fans in the background which gave everyone the chance to become part of the Clarets' squad – answering Howe's call for a united front going into the new campaign.

“I was really keen to do something that brought the players and the fans together,” said the Burnley boss.

“I think it's such an important relationship and probably at times last year we suffered because it wasn't as close as it could have been.

“We really want the fans to know that we know that we are a huge part of the football club and we have a really big responsibility to make sure we are accessible to the supporters.

“Hopefully that can be a regular occurrence. The supporters were fantastic with us and hopefully they enjoyed being around the players.”

With the sun shining on a perfect afternoon, the entertainment then moved outside the stadium with activities and displays in the Turf Moor car park and the Elite training centre providing fun for all the family.

Copies of the special squad photo will be on sale in the Clarets Store shortly.

ALDERSON AND HORAN

Sympathy & Service

Our family taking care of your family.

Losing a loved one is something that affects us all, yet all too often there is a reluctance to talk about death.

When a death occurs in the family, that's the time when we need support and a sympathetic ear, whether it's a clergyman, a relative, a close friend, or a funeral director.

Alderson and Horan Funeral Services have been providing that sympathetic ear, along with a first-class personal and individual service, since the business was founded in 2004 by brothers-in-law Stephen Alderson and John Horan, who between them have more than 40 years' experience in funeral directing.

Alderson and Horan's personal attention to detail means that each funeral is planned exactly according to the wishes of the deceased person and their family.

Whether it's a Victorian-style funeral with horse-drawn hearse, a biker funeral with a cavalcade of motorcycles following the cars, or a 'green' woodland burial with a coffin of recycled materials, all are given the same attention to detail.

A fleet of completely new 2012-registered Mercedes Benz funeral cars – two limousines and a hearse – add that stately touch of dignity to any funeral.

The Alderson and Horan service is fully comprehensive, including arranging the date, time and place of the funeral, clergy, order of service, flowers, catering, press notices, headstones, choice of coffin, hospital liaison, singers or musicians if required, official forms, booking the cemetery or crematorium and arranging for a family vault or plot.

Funerals can also be pre-paid, either in a single payment or installments, through the insurance-backed Golden Charter scheme which fixes the funeral director's fee.

Anyone who wishes to assure themselves about the Alderson and Horan service are welcome to meet one of the partners and look around their premises by arrangement. Simply telephone Rossendale 01706 830294 or Burnley 01282 427483 and you will be made most welcome.

Businesses Wanted!

JOINERS / PLUMBERS / CAFE / BUILDERS ...PLUS MANY MORE

Within the Burnley and Pendle region it has been recognised that there is a group of elite businesses who share two important characteristics:

They are very good at what they do and they would benefit from a closer relationship with Burnley FC

This programme is aimed at bringing together local businesses and loyal Burnley Football Club fans, in order to generate more business and help supporters receive the best possible service from the best local businesses.

Only one business per industry category will be invited to become the club's exclusive By Official Appointment suppliers, within specific industry classification or categories.

Businesses interested in taking part in the programme will pay an annual subscription in order to secure the license for a period of 12 months.

The BOA packages are split across four price categories (A, B, C & D). The BOA license will be renewable with the agreement of both Burnley FC and the appointee upon the anniversary of the programme.

If you would like more information on how BOA could benefit your company, or would like a copy of the BOA brochure or the BOA company directory then please give us a call on 01282 446809, or email boa@burnleyfc.com

At the start of a new season we begin a series highlighting the careers of some of the legends who appear on the Burnley FC international honours board, displayed here at Turf Moor.

BILLY BANNISTER
BURNLEY & ENGLAND

No. 1

Billy Bannister was the fourth Burnley player to win full international honours for England and, remarkably, was the second to have been born in the town itself. He was a pit worker at the old Barden Colliery when he joined Burnley as a twenty year old in 1899. Less than two years later, he was England's centre half.

He was born in Burnley Lane in 1878 and played his early football in the Burnley junior leagues. He was spotted by the Turf Moor scouts and was invited to take part in the club's pre-season trial matches in August 1899, playing at centre half.

He was immediately signed on professional terms and began his Turf Moor career in the Lancashire Combination, playing for the reserves. He made his First Division debut in October 1899, in a 1-0 victory against Blackburn at Turf Moor, but played only occasionally at senior level during his first season.

During the following campaign Bannister, a towering presence indeed, very quickly established a formidable defensive partnership with the great Joe Taylor. His rise to prominence had been swift, and his potential was brought to the attention of the International selectors.

After being chosen to play for the Football League in March 1901, just two days later he won his first full England cap against Wales at St James' Park. Four goals from Steve Bloomer helped to see off the Welsh 6-0, and a confident performance from Bannister seemed to signal the start of an illustrious international career.

It never quite happened however and Bannister won just one more full international cap in a 1-0 England victory against Ireland in Belfast in March 1902. By that time he was a Bolton Wanderers player, after an acute financial crisis at Turf Moor dictated that Burnley had to cash in on their most saleable asset.

He had moved to Burnden Park in November 1901 for just £75!

Only a year later he was on the move again, joining former Burnley manager Harry Bradshaw at Woolwich Arsenal and he helped the Gunners to promotion from Division Two in 1904.

That summer he was transferred to Leicester Fosse where he was to spend the majority of his senior career and captained the Foxes to promotion to Division One for the first time ever in 1908.

He was re-signed by Burnley in 1910 and played briefly at the start of the club's revival under new manager John Haworth, making the last of his 58 Burnley appearances in February 1912. He also began a new career as a publican during his time back at Turf Moor.

He later returned to live in Leicester where he remained in the licensed trade until his death in 1942.

40TH ANNIVERSARY

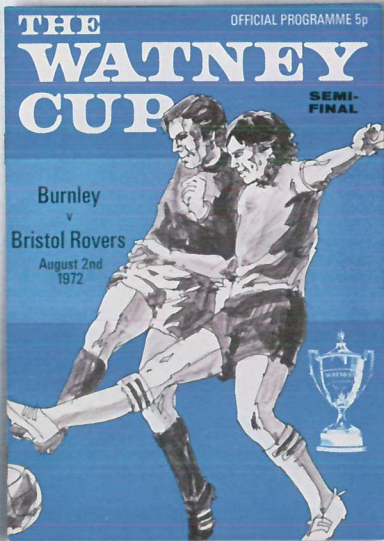

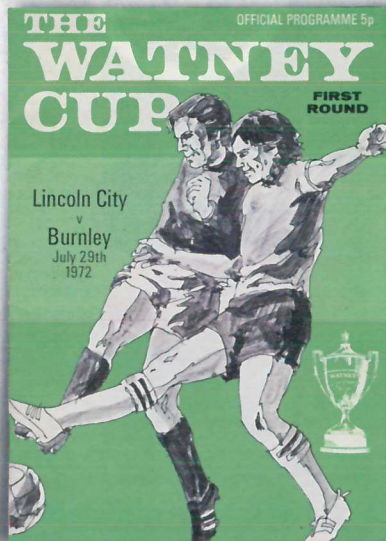

Clarets Watney goes flat

THIS SEASON BURNLEY FOOTBALL CLUB CELEBRATES THE 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF OUR SECOND DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP 1973 TITLE SUCCESS.

Each week, Wallace Chadwick takes a stroll through the archives to re-live a memorable season...

A SLOW START TO THE SEASON AS NEWTON SIGNS UP!

In the summer of 1972, Burnley had just completed their first season outside the top flight in a quarter of a century. 1971/72, it would be fair to say, was a disappointment, especially to a generation of fans who had known nothing but First Division football. Manager Jimmy Adamson had predicted that Burnley were destined to be the "Team of the Seventies", and relegation in 1971 followed by a seventh-place finish to a season in which they rarely threatened to trouble the leaders hardly seemed like a good start.

There was some room for optimism, though. The Clarets had ended the season on a high with six straight wins, and the team was still largely a young one, with outstanding potential in several positions. Adamson clearly felt that little change needed to be made to his first-team squad, and the summer brought only one signing of note. It was a surprising one to say the least. Keith Newton had made his name just down the road at Ewood Park, and his performances in both full-back positions had made him an England regular even with Blackburn playing in the Second Division. He had moved to Everton by the time of the 1970 World Cup in which he featured strongly, but only two years later left Goodison on a free transfer to join Burnley. He was still only 31 and clearly still had plenty to offer.

PENALTY DECIDER

No extra time is played in the WATNEY CUP COMPETITION. If the scores are level at the end of 90 minutes, the tie is decided by a penalty kick competition, both teams taking five penalties of 30 minutes. Should the score still be level at this point, each team will continue to take an equal number of penalties until one team is one goal ahead. Only those players taking part at the end of the match plus two named substitutes are allowed to take the penalty kicks and no player is permitted to take more than one until all eleven players, including the goalkeeper, have taken part. The referee decides which goal is to be used for the penalty competition and the loss of a coin between the two captains determines which side has the first attempt.

KEITH NEWTON

Age: 31
Signed from Everton
STILL PLENTY TO OFFER!

He soon slotted into the Burnley side at left-back, a position no player had consistently filled in the previous campaign. The rest of the expected first-choice line-up as action recommenced was Alan Stevenson (21) in goal, Mick Docherty (21) at right-back, Colin Waldron (24) and Jim Thomson (25) in central defence; captain Martin Dobson (24), David Thomas (21), Billy Ingham (19) and Welsh international Leighton James (still only 19) in midfield, and up front Frank Casper (27) and Paul Fletcher (21).

Following friendlies at Swansea (won 2-1) and Newport (drew 1-1), there was a competitive element to pre-season, in the shape of the Watney Cup. One of the earliest sponsored football competitions, it featured two sides from each division... the top scorers in each, excluding teams who had been promoted or qualified for Europe. Burnley and Blackpool had jointly topped the Second Division scoring charts with 70 each in 71/72, and the Clarets opened their campaign with a trip to Fourth Division qualifiers Lincoln on 29th July. The Burnley side was as above except that Eric Probert was in for David Thomas, while the home side included their future manager (and England's!) Graham Taylor at right-back, with John Ward, later assistant manager at Turf Moor, on the bench. Watched by 7,425 on a sweltering afternoon, the match was anything but a classic and the Clarets struggled to get into their stride, but a goal from Leighton James a minute from time ensured that the agony went on not much longer and Burnley came away with a 1-0 win. Alan West came on as a late Clarets substitute.

If the performance at Sincil Bank had been disappointing, worse was to come with the semi-final against Third Division Bristol Rovers at Turf Moor the following Wednesday. With an unchanged side and a healthy crowd of 10,589, the Clarets simply had no answer to a hard-working Rovers side and were beaten by goals from Frankie Prince and the prolific Bruce Bannister. West again appeared from the bench, while 17-year-old Paul Bradshaw made his first-team debut in the second half, despite the frustrated crowd's chants for David Thomas. Small consolation was to come as Bristol Rovers went on to win the competition, beating First Division Sheffield United on penalties in the final. The Watney Cup was to survive for only one more year.

Having been knocked out, Burnley hastily arranged a friendly for the following Saturday (5th August) at Blackpool. Geoff Nulty replaced Newton at left-back for this game, while the Seasiders' line-up included a Claret of quite a few years hence in Tommy Hutchison. As a final appetite-whetter for the season, it was poor stuff, with the Clarets showing little in attack and going down to a 2-0 defeat. A pre-season that had started promisingly had fizzled out badly, and optimism was at a low level ahead of the opening League game against Carlisle a week later.

This week,
MARVIN BARTLEY on his love for boxing.

Marvin Bartley

Why boxing?

My dad was a big fan, along with my older brothers, so I grew up watching Mike Tyson and Frank Bruno in their big fights and quickly grew to love it.

As a kid, I used to either stay up well past my bedtime to watch the fights, or sneak back downstairs to watch hoping my mum had gone to bed because dad didn't mind me watching.

I think seeing the big fights inspired me to give it a go and there were a lot of opportunities for kids back home.

There are plenty of boxing clubs in the Reading area, but I quickly found out I'm not the biggest participant.

I tried it once because a mate back home of mine boxes. I went along with him for the one session and didn't bother with all the protective gear, but it was all too hard for me and I retired from the ring immediately.

I could have been the middleweight champion of the world, but I decided to concentrate on my football instead!

Boxing hero?

Tyson was the main man as I was growing up, but Riddick Bowe used to be my favourite fighter. He wasn't the best to be fair, because he was at the end of his career, but I always enjoyed watching him.

Do you attend fights?

Along with my brothers, I used to follow heavyweight Michael Spott, a local fighter from Reading.

He briefly held the British and Commonwealth heavyweight titles and fought Audley Harrison a couple of years ago. He was more of a European-based fighter and ended up fighting mainly in Germany, but I went to watch him a few times and you have to support your local boy, don't ya?

Respect!

I have the utmost respect for them because every fight they go into the ring not knowing what might happen. At least in football you have 10 other team mates to support you and bail you out. They go into a dangerous environment one-on-one and take punishment. There's no hiding place when someone is trying to knock you out.

Favourite fight?

When Frank Bruno became the heavyweight champion of the world in '95 by beating Oliver McCall. Some things stick on your memory and I still remember him blubbing in the ring after winning that fight.

Unfortunately, that meant he had to fight Tyson as a result and that battering was the end of his pro career.

Futsal & Education Scholarship.

DO YOU WANT TO:

- ...represent Burnley Football club?
- ...get a first class education that will get you to University?
- ...gain qualifications to work in the sports industry?
- ...train and compete in a professional sports environment?
- ...become a coach or referee?

@futsal

Burnley FC is offering a unique opportunity for talented 16-19 year old football players to pursue a 2 year Futsal & Education Scholarship.

What is Futsal?

Futsal is the only form of indoor football approved by FIFA, UEFA and the FA. With over two million players regularly participating in fast-paced five-a-side action that rewards good technique and game intelligence, Futsal is globally recognised as one of the fastest growing indoor sports in the world.

Many greats from the 11-a-side game such as Ronaldo, Fabregas, Zidane and Pele attribute the development of their skills to Futsal. Extensively televised international competitions such as the Futsal World Cup and UEFA Futsal cup allow players to showcase their talents on a global scale and ensure that Futsal is here to stay as part of the fabric of football.

As a key element of the FA's strategy to develop the game and produce players capable of representing England, and after a very successful introduction in 2010, Burnley FC in conjunction with the Football League Trust are now offering this exciting and innovative programme to 16-19 year olds in conjunction with Burnley FC.

Learners will have the opportunity to train in Futsal for up to eight hours a week with Burnley FC coaches, under the direction of the Football League Trust. Training will be supplemented with fortnightly regular fixtures against other teams, representing professional clubs, in the Football League Trust Futsal League.

To ensure that learners are fully prepared for the future, the scholarship also includes a full-time education package, incorporating:

- BTEC Level 3 Extended Diploma, worth up to 3 A Levels
- Allows access to university and further study
- Opens the door to a coaching career in football or Futsal.
- Opens the door to a career in refereeing

Pre-season programme has Clarets ready to fire.

The Clarets' pre-season campaign is now taking on a familiar look under the management of Eddie Howe.

And bar a late hiccup at Rochdale, the build-up to the new season - which got underway back on 29 June - ticked all the boxes in terms of collective and individual preparation.

For the second summer running the Clarets kicked off at Altrincham and hit the ground running with a 4-1 win.

New skipper Jason Shackell took the captain's armband as Howe gave virtually all of his senior squad a run-out.

Chris McCann set the ball rolling as he rifled the Clarets ahead and after a complete change of personnel at the break, strikers Danny Ings and Charlie Austin wasted no time in making their mark with a quick-fire double.

Altrincham pulled one back but Austin rounded off a slick afternoon's work when he powered home a header in the final minute.

From Moss Lane it was on to Bury where the Shakers put up sterner resistance before a late goal from Ings gave the Clarets a 1-0 win.

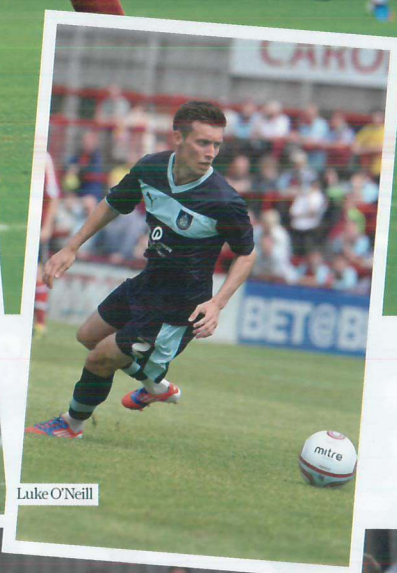

Again Howe gave game-time to the bulk of his squad with David Edgar getting his first run-out of the pre-season campaign, following a slightly extended break due to his summer schedule with Canada. Jensen on duty for the first time after signing up for a tenth season as a Claret.

Over 1,000 Burnley fans made the short trip down the A56 and were rewarded when Ings delivered a classy finish eight minutes from the end to make it two wins out of two.

For the second year running, Howe then took his squad south to spend a week training and team-building in Bath.

They were joined in the South West by

'new' signing Sam Vokes as the former loan striker made a welcome return to the Burnley ranks.

Vokes was pressed straight into action at Mayday Trust Park where the Clarets beat Bath City 3-1 following a bizarre exchange of goals.

Keith Treacy had opened the scoring before Bath substitute Adie Harris lobbed a drop-ball - following an injury to Kieran Trippier - over Jensen and into the Clarets' net to 'equalise'.

With the goal given, George Porter was allowed to walk up the other end and restore Burnley's lead - despite Jason Mellor's initial save.

But thankfully that didn't go down as the winning goal as Ross Wallace rammed in a third with virtually the last kick of the game.

The Clarets then rounded off a good week's work with an emphatic 4-0 win at Cheltenham Town.

Left-back Joseph Mills got his first goal for the club while Wallace and Austin continued their fine starts with the others, Austin twice heading home to make it four goals in as many games.

And the striker was then on target again as the Clarets ended their public work-outs at Rochdale.

This time, though, Austin's late header was only a statistical footnote as Howe's men suffered a 3-1 defeat to the League Two side.

More worryingly, Ings picked up an injury which will keep him out for the opening months of the new season.

But with everyone else coming through unscathed, new faces bedded in, miles in the legs and a re-shaped squad picking up speed, one of the longer pre-seasons of recent years has left the Clarets perfectly primed for the nine-month marathon ahead.

Burnley Football Club.
BFCPESS.

Coyle hopes Bolton are hot to Trot.

Former Burnley boss Owen Coyle seeks to stop the rot at the Reebok.

With more than a decade of top-flight football at the Reebok Stadium coming to an end in May, Bolton are back in the Championship dogfight for the first time since 2001.

Failure to beat Stoke City in their final game of last season spelled the drop for Owen Coyle's side as they paid the price for a dismal home record which saw them win just four times in the Premier League at the Reebok in 2011/12.

Only bottom club Wolves won fewer home games or conceded more than Bolton's 39 goals on their own ground as the loss of a handful of key players, either via the transfer market or the injured list, took a heavy toll.

Since then, Coyle has seen a further dozen players leave the club with this summer marking the departure of, among others, long-serving goalkeeper Jussi Jaaskelainen, defenders Paul Robinson and Gretar Steinsson, midfielder Nigel Reo-Coker and striker Ivan Klasnic.

Of those, Reo-Coker and Klasnic might be the most missed, along with midfielder Fabrice Muamba, whose miraculous recovery from a heart attack sustained at Tottenham in January was one of the most up-lifting – if potentially distracting – stories of the season.

But the up-side of a clear-out means Bolton's big wage bill is at least heading back in the right direction.

And with Coyle seemingly re-investing some of those funds wisely, Bolton look well equipped to mount a challenge for a rapid return to the top tier.

Of the new additions, centre-back Matt Mills – brother of new Burnley signing Joseph – and ex-Blackburn midfielder Keith Andrews know the division well.

Former Rangers winger Greg Wylde could be an exciting wildcard signing, while those coming back from injury and capable of making a big impact at Championship level include midfielders Chung-Yong Lee and Stuart Holden and ex-Clarets' full-back Tyrone Mears.

With Mark Davies, Darren Pratley, Martin Petrov and former Burnley winger Chris Eagles also among those competing for a midfield slot, Bolton are well served in that department.

Up front they look lighter with much still appearing to rest on the broad shoulders of veteran targetman Kevin Davies, although a hat-trick on his first appearance in pre-season from on-loan Arsenal teenager Benik Afobe bodes well.

Coyle will be hoping for more from Marvin Sordell following the former Watford striker's return to the Championship and ex-Liverpool youngster David Ngog needs to repay the faith show in him.

But once today is out of the way – and Coyle would doubtless have rather started the season against any other team – Bolton should be capable of challenging for a top-six place in a pivotal season for both manager and team.

*Gaffer
OWEN
COYLE

“COYLE WILL BE LOOKING TO INSPIRE HIS NEW-LOOK SIDE TO BOUNCE BACK AND RESTORE A COLLECTIVE UPTURN IN FORTUNES.”

While Owen Coyle's standing at Turf Moor continues to divide opinion, there is no disputing the fact that he deserves his place on the club's roll of honour as the manager who brought Premier League football to Turf Moor.

That Coyle didn't stay to see out the Clarets' season in the top flight rankles with some, but under his stewardship Burnley enjoyed some of the highest points of their recent history.

Appointed by the Clarets in November, 2007, the former St Johnstone manager marked his one full season in charge at Turf Moor by guiding Burnley to the semi-finals of the Carling Cup and promotion to the Premier League in May, 2009.

The play-off final win over Sheffield United at Wembley propelled Burnley back into the top flight for the first time in 33 years and saw Coyle's stock at its highest.

A decent start to the 2009/10 season was beginning to turn into a relegation scrap but things may yet have turned out differently had Coyle not accepted an offer to take over at Bolton at the turn of the year.

The Clarets couldn't regain their lost momentum, while Coyle revived a Bolton team which managed to avoid relegation and finish 14th in the Premier League.

The former Wanderers' striker, who also gave sterling service to half-a-dozen Scottish clubs in a 22-year playing career, repeated that position in 2010/11 and also took Bolton to the semi-finals of the FA Cup.

But relegation last season was a blot on the CV of the 46-year-old Glaswegian.

And with the graph of his managerial career taking a downward turn for the first time, he will be looking to inspire his new-look side to bounce back and restore a collective upturn in fortunes.

“WITH COYLE SEEMINGLY RE-INVESTING SOME OF THOSE FUNDS WISELY, BOLTON LOOK WELL EQUIPPED TO MOUNT A CHALLENGE FOR A RAPID RETURN TO THE TOP TIER.”

Winger Chung-Yong Lee will be striving to make up for lost time as he returns to the fray after missing virtually all of last season with a broken leg.

The absence of the 'Blue Dragon' was keenly felt by Wanderers as they slumped to relegation. But his comeback will be akin to signing a new player if he can rediscover the form he showed before injury. Signed from FC Seoul in August, 2009, the South Korean international quickly adapted to English football.

His attacking threat and ability to run with the ball made him an instant favourite at the Reebok Stadium as he ended his first season at Bolton as both the players and fans' player of the year.

His last meeting with Burnley brought the 24-year-old a winning goal in January, 2010 and boss Owen Coyle will be looking to the likes of Lee, Chris Eagles, Gregg Wylde and Martin Petrov to provide the ammunition from the flanks to fire a potential promotion challenge.

ADAM BOGDAN

The long reign of Jussi Jaaskelainen as Bolton's number one goalkeeper finally came to an end last season as Adam Bogdan emerged as the heir to his title. After injury to Jaaskelainen opened the door for Bogdan to claim a starting spot, the 25-year-old went on to cement a place which led to the departure of the veteran Finn this summer. Bogdan, who has been at Bolton since 2007, went on to start 20 Premier League games for Owen Coyle's side. And although the Hungarian international, working under the guidance of former Burnley goalkeeping coach Phil Hughes, was unable to prevent Bolton going down, his performances earned him the prize as Wanderers' player of the year.

"THE ST LOUIS-BORN CENTRE-BACK POSTPONED HIS HONEYMOON TO COMPLETE THE SWITCH."

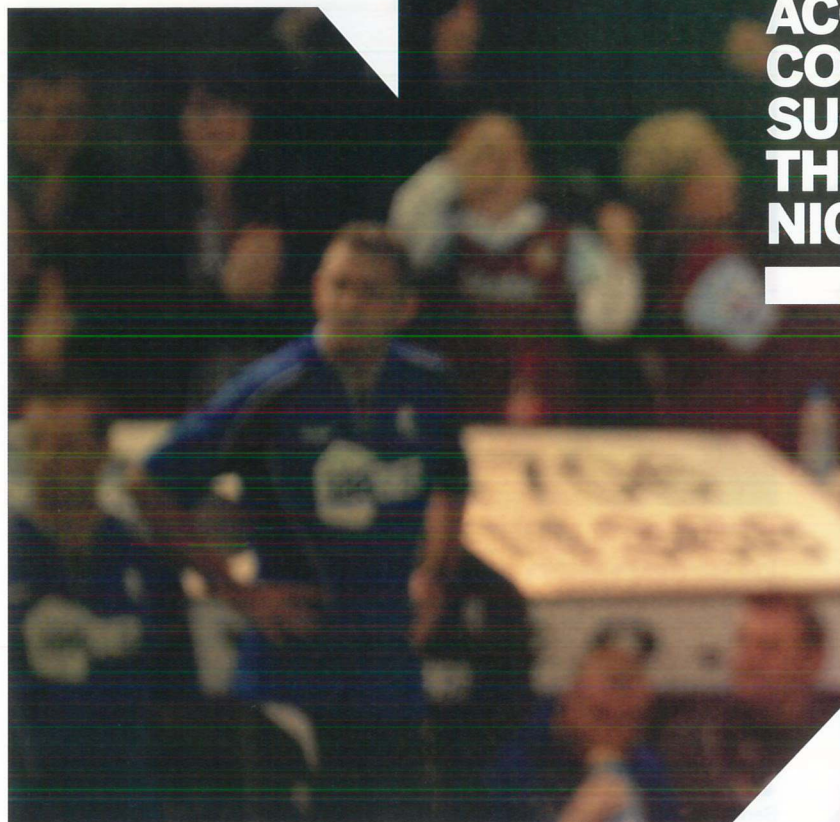

Bolton have had some high profile young players on loan in recent years and Arsenal youngster Benik Afobe is continuing that trend after signing up for a season's service at the Reebok Stadium. The 19-year-old is yet to make a first-team appearance for the Gunners after coming right the way through their youth ranks. But the pacey striker, who signed his first professional contract in February, 2010, is understood to be highly regarded at the Emirates Stadium. Capped at up to under-19 level for England, the Londoner has previously had loan experience with Huddersfield Town and Reading. And after joining Bolton, he marked his first appearance with a second-half hat-trick as a substitute in Wanderers' pre-season win at Tranmere.

When Bolton completed the sale of former Burnley loanee Gary Cahill to Chelsea last January, manager Owen Coyle looked across the pond for a replacement. United States international Tim Ream was signed as the man to help plug the gap and after agreeing a three-year contract signed from MLS side New York Red Bulls. The St Louis-born centre-back postponed his honeymoon to complete the switch and after making his debut in an FA Cup tie in February established himself as a regular in the Trotters' back four. And while his honeymoon in English football didn't last long – relegation following in May – the 24-year-old looks likely to have a big role to play in helping Bolton trying to bounce back. With David Wheater sidelined by a long-term knee injury, Ream, Zat Knight and loan signing Matt Mills will be the men Coyle relies on to provide the defensive platform for a promotion push.

“BRIAN LAWS
HADN'T WON
UNIVERSAL
COYLE'S
SUCCESSOR BUT THIS WAS LAWS' NIGHT.”

After a season as Premier League foes, the Clarets' relegation didn't stop the rivalry as the two clubs were paired together in the second round of the Carling Cup.

And the draw was given added drama by the presence in the opposition dug-out of Owen Coyle.

It was Coyle's first return to Turf Moor since his exit to the Reebok Stadium in January, 2010 and for many supporters it was payback time!

Brian Laws hadn't won universal acclaim as Coyle's successor but this was Laws' night as Burnley continued their winning home start to the season with a fourth successive Turf Moor triumph.

The second-round draw the fans wanted panned out perfectly thanks to a winner from Wade Elliott.

It was Elliott's goal under Coyle that delivered promotion to the Premier League in 2009 but this time the Scot felt the pain as the long-serving Clarets' winger pounced to volley home just before half-time.

Chris Eagles and Jay Rodriguez had earlier hit the woodwork as the Clarets responded to a crackling atmosphere. And even though Bolton, with ex-Burnley favourite Robbie Blake getting a rare outing, rallied after the break, they couldn't force an equaliser to avoid crashing out.

Perhaps inevitably given the close proximity of the clubs, there are a number of players who have appeared for both Burnley and Bolton Wanderers.

Most of those who have worn both colours enjoyed greater success in claret and blue.

And that includes Glen Little, whose time at Bolton was only brief but who will go down in Turf Moor history as one of the top performers of Burnley's modern era.

Signed from Glentoran in November, 1996, the former Crystal Palace youngster didn't make an immediate impact and at one point looked to be heading for a fairly quick exit.

But with relegation to the bottom division becoming a real threat in 1998, former England winger Chris Waddle finally saw the light and made the winger a key part of the Clarets' survival mission.

Under Stan Ternent, Little then flourished further and was the creative force behind Burnley's elevation to the Championship in 2000, scoring a magnificent winning goal at Scunthorpe which clinched promotion.

A languid runner with an uncanny knack of beating a defender and delivering a top quality cross, Little was a genuine entertainer and crowd favourite.

To many, his presence in the Premier League was long overdue but the chance finally came, with Bolton, in September, 2003.

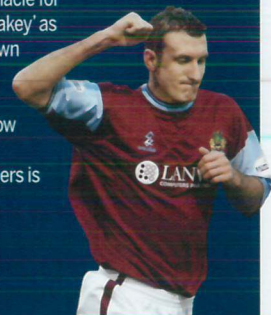

Signed on loan by Sam Allardyce, a hamstring injury delayed his debut and his four top-flight appearances ended up coming via the bench and ended without a win to his name.

But Little's time at Burnley was coming to an end and the following summer he signed for Reading, making hay as the Royals romped to promotion to the Premier League with a record-breaking 106 points in 2006.

The following season he was rewarded with 24 appearances as Reading finished eighth in the table.

That proved to be the pinnacle for Reading and Little, but 'Blakey' as he was affectionately known at Turf Moor, carried on playing, for Portsmouth, Reading, Aldershot and now for Wrexham.

One of the great entertainers is yet to leave the stage.

ON THIS DAY

18th August

A look back through the Clarets archives to this date in history.

1970

Everton 1 Burnley 1

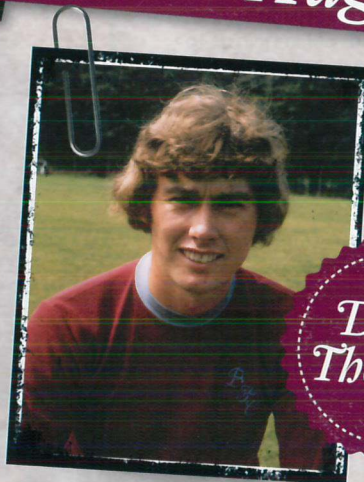

Clarets Earn Point at Champions.

Burnley had an injury crisis before the start of the season. Peter Mellor had undergone an operation for a dislocated shoulder and both Martin Dobson and Peter Jones had leg fractures.

Former England keeper Tony Waiters, 33, had come out of retirement after a three year coaching sabbatical. Jimmy Adamson's side had lost at home to Liverpool on the opening day. Our first away trip was a daunting one - Everton had won the League Championship in 1969-70.

Dave Thomas got a fantastic goal in the eighth minute. Picking up a ball from right back John Angus he weaved his way down the by-line before cheekily beating Gordon West at his near post.

The equaliser came after 50 minutes. An Alan Ball free-kick eluded Waiters, grasp for Johnny Morrissey to force home. The draw for the League Cup had paired Burnley with Third Division Aston Villa and a reunion with ex-Claret targetman Andy Lochhead.

Charity Shield win for the Clarets.

Having won the Second Division title the previous season, Burnley were invited to participate in the Charity Shield.

Joe Brown had been promoted from Chief Coach to Assistant Manager and Peter Noble had signed from Swindon Town. City were the holders of the Charity Shield having defeated Aston Villa the previous season. Staged at Maine Road, this was the last time that the trophy would be contested away from Wembley. Included in the home side were international stars like Colin Bell, Francis Lee, Denis Law and Rodney Marsh. They were amongst the favourites to lift the Division One title. In contrast Burnley were 5/4 favourites for relegation. The only goal of the game was a talking point. The Clarets produced a fantastic set piece. Doug Collins ran over the ball, Frank Casper chipped it on the turn with precision onto the head of the unmarked Colin Waldron who thundered his header home. The only problem: Burnley's secret was out - it was on television for the nation to see ahead of the start of the new season. FA Chairman Sir Andrew Stephen presented the trophy to skipper Martin Dobson.

Orient 2 Burnley 2

Coates Rolls Back the Years.

Ex Claret Ralph Coates showed Burnley fans what they were missing with both Orient goals in this Second Division thriller but Burnley came from behind twice to secure a point on the opening day. Coates had left Burnley in 1971 for Tottenham Hotspur. He had then moved on to Brisbane Road in 1978.

In the summer Martin Dobson had rejoined Burnley from Everton and Tony Morley had left Turf Moor for Villa Park in a £220,000 deal.

Coates got the opener after four minutes. He lobbed Alan Stevenson from a Tommy Taylor free-kick. Burnley were level after 37 minutes. Leighton James fired home right footed past debutant Mervyn Day. Coates made it 2-1 just after the hour with a 30 yard stunner.

Fifteen minutes from time a fine move got the Clarets a share of the spoils. Ian Brennan's cross was headed back across goal by Paul Fletcher for Steve Kindon to force home. Coates was denied a hat-trick by a superb late reflex save from Alan Stevenson.

'Pato' Nets Against the Clarets

Five years ago today the Clarets were beaten 2-0 at Glanford Park. There were debuts for David Unsworth and Clarke Carlisle. Unsworth was made captain and Carlisle had joined from Watford after Wayne Thomas had moved to Southampton for big money. After a goalless first half, a familiar face opened the scoring just 60 seconds after the break. The Clarets defence allowed Martin Paterson too much space and he drilled a good shot past Gabor Kiraly. Iron boss Nigel Adkins had signed Paterson from Stoke City that summer. He would go on to score 14 times for United that season before a big money move to Burnley in June 2008.

Just after the hour Jim Goodwin got a second to cap a miserable afternoon for Steve Cotterill's side.

The Scunthorpe programme announced a loan signing from Chelsea – a certain Jack Cork, just 18, was set to make his Scunthorpe debut the following week.

2001

Burnley 3 Wimbledon 2

Burnley Maintain 100% Record.

The Clarets had to come from behind to maintain their unbeaten league record. Two goals in the first 11 minutes set everyone up for a frantic encounter. The Dons took the lead when Danish striker David Nielsen found himself in acres of space behind a static home defence to score.

Stan Ternent's side were level immediately. Keeper Kelvin Davis spilt the ball for Alan Moore to tap home on his home debut. It was 2-1 after half an hour. Ian Moore was pulled back by Chris Willmott for Paul Cook to score from the spot. Alan Moore was enjoying a fantastic game. With five minutes of the half left he delivered another magical cross that was dropped by Davis for Gordon Armstrong to force home.

The second half was less frantic. Burnley had chances and Steve Davis hit the bar with a great lob but Wimbledon got back in the game when Neil Shipperley powered home a header from a Kevin Cooper cross.

Ray Harford's side nearly got a share of the points when David Connolly's effort came back off the post. The Clarets hung on to be one of four clubs on maximum points in the Championship – Bradford City, Grimsby and Palace were the others.

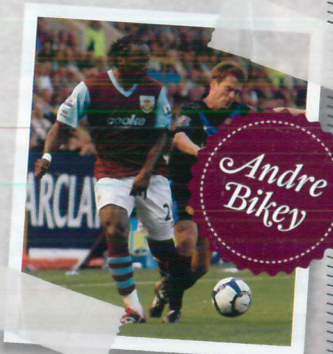

2009

Burnley 1 Manchester Utd 0

Bikey signs from Reading.

After an opening day defeat at Stoke City manager Owen Coyle delved into the transfer market to bring Cameroon international Andre Bikey to Turf Moor. Bikey had been in the Reading side beaten 1-0 in the Championship playoffs the previous May. He gave away a late penalty and was sent off for a lunge at Robbie Blake. Bikey had missed the start of the Royals' season but was free from suspension for the much awaited home game against champions Manchester United. Sensationally the Clarets won that match with an amazing Blake strike. In truth, that clean sheet was Bikey's best game in Burnley shirt. Under three managers – Coyle, Brian Laws and Eddie Howe he was in and out of the side. After reverting to his father's name in 2011, Amougou left the club earlier this summer.

Burnley Ladies.

Welcome to our new feature page, featuring the girls in Claret and Blue

Following the relative success of Team GB at the Olympics, the profile of women's football has never been higher.

Players such as Steph Houghton, Jill Scott and Burnley's very own Rachel Brown are, if not quite household names, certainly more recognisable now than they were a couple of weeks ago.

Tweets from the likes of Wayne Rooney & Bobby Charlton and positive comments from respected sports journalists all add to the positive glow that surrounds ladies football.

And we're not left out in East Lancashire either. Burnley FC Girls & Ladies, a FA

Charter Standard Club, run eight separate teams in different age groups and leagues for girls from the age of five years upwards.

The first team compete in the North West Women's Premier League, and our younger teams compete in the West Lancs Girls Football League (WLGFL).

During the course of the season we'll be covering each of the teams and letting you know how they are getting on in their respective divisions.

And of course if you've been bitten by the women's football bug and want to join in, either on or off the pitch, then visit www.pitchero.com/clubs/burnleyfcladies for more info.

The Class of 2012

Clarets welcome new intake of youth-team prospects.

“WE BELIEVE IN THEM AS GOOD
YOUNG PLAYERS
AND WE LOOKING FORWARD TO WORKING WITH THEM.”

Jason Blake

After the success of last season's squad, it's all change at youth-team level for the new season.

Of the squad that reached the semi-finals of the FA Youth Cup and finished as runners-up in the Youth Alliance North West Division, ten have graduated to the professional ranks.

Steve Hewitt, Cameron Howieson and Shay McCartan also got a first taste of first-team football under boss Eddie Howe at the end of last season.

And they have been joined on professional contracts by Adam Evans, Aryn Williams, Archie Love, Tom Anderson, Alex Coleman, Luke Conlan, and Jack Errington.

Howieson, Conlan and Errington remain eligible to play at youth level but it has largely been a rebuilding job for coach Terry Pashley and assistant Andy Farrell.

Only two second-years remain in Luke Gallagher and Jason Gilchrist, with nine new players signing as first-year scholars to begin their careers.

All 16-year-olds, four of the 'new' arrivals have progressed through the Clarets' Centre of Excellence: Full-back Charlie Holt, striker Lewis Nuttall, goalkeeper Callum Jakovlevs and midfielder Nathan Lowe.

In addition, midfielder Luke Daly spent time at Turf Moor at the end of last season after being released by Manchester United.

But the Clarets have also widened their search to hopefully land a future generation of first-team players.

Central defender Alex Whitmore has followed in the footsteps of Errington in joining the Clarets from Tyneside-based Wallsend Boys Club.

And Burnley have again used their scouting system in Ireland to sign Conor Mitchell, Cameron Dummigan and Evan Galvin.

Midfielder Galvin arrives from Cork Corinthians and has been capped at under-16 level by the Republic of Ireland.

Goalkeeper Mitchell from Portrush has been capped at under-17 level for Northern Ireland, while defender Dummigan from Cliftonville is a Northern Ireland under-16 international.

“They have a tough act to follow after last year but we believe in them as good young players and we look forward to working with them and hopefully developing them as future first-team players at Burnley,” said Jason Blake, the Clarets' Academy Manager.

David Edgar

Burnley's first-ever Canadian international made his senior debut against Bolton Wanderers, playing for Newcastle United at the Reebok Stadium on Boxing Day 2006.

Chris Eagles

Bolton's Tyrone Mears and Chris Eagles were both in Burnley's team the last time Wanderers visited Turf Moor. In a League Cup third round tie in September 2010, a Wade Elliott goal gave the Clarets a 1-0 victory.

Tyrone Mears

Burnley and Bolton played out a goalless draw at Turf Moor on the opening day of the season thirty years ago, in August 1982, in the old Division Two.

Jimmy McIlroy

Owen Coyle is not the first Bolton manager to have Turf Moor connections. Clarets legend Jimmy McIlroy occupied the hot seat at Burnden Park for a period of just 18 days in 1970.

The Riverside Stadium

MIDDLESBROUGH TS3 6RS

Middlesbrough v Burnley Tuesday 21st August 2012

BY ROAD

Leave A1 at Dishforth. Take A168 which then leads you to the A19. Continue along the A19. At A66 junction follow signs for for Middlesbrough. Pass Middlesbrough town centre on raised section of the dual carriageway following signs for Redcar, Grangetown, Teesport. You will then see the stadium on the left hand side. Take the slip road signposted (in brown) Riverside Stadium off the A66. Keep in your left-hand lane up the slip road and turn left at the traffic lights at the top of it. The stadium is in front of you just to the right.

BY TRAIN

From Middlesbrough Railway Station, head north on Albert Road towards Wilson Street. Continue onto Exchange Pl then turn right onto Bridge St E. Take the first right onto Winward Way at the roundabout then take the first exit onto The Halyard at the roundabout, take the first exit and the stadium will be in front of you.

Blast from the past.

History repeats itself today!

In 1982 we kicked off with a stalemate at home Bolton, followed by a visit to Tuesday's opponents, Middlesbrough! And it was a happy start for Brian Miller's Clarets, as they triumphed 4-1 at Ayresome Park, thanks to goals from Martin Dobson, Brian Laws, Kevin Young and Billy Hamilton. Alas, the season ended in relegation for Burnley, dropping into Division Three while Boro finished 16th.

top tweets

a round up from twitter over the past week...

@TheOldDivision2

Who has made the best signing this summer? not much money being spent in fairness, for me it would have to be Shackell to Burnley #dcfc #bfc

@JamesBrownCTFC

After watching @BurnleyOfficial put four past us at the weekend, I am convinced they will do well in the Championship this season. #BFC

@CameronHowieson

What a great experience playing against Brazil. An experience that won't be forgotten! Thanks for all the support! #OlyWhites

@trippier123

I was struggling for money, so I was banking on Dave.

@robbopalmer

Just been asked by Seattle Sounders fans which ground has the best food. Obviously the answer is Turf Moor!

@DannyIngs1

Thanks to everyone for all the nice tweets! Gutted about my knee but I will come back even stronger than before.

@sylvtheclaret

Best wishes to Jay Rod! Hope he can produce in the prem like he did for us.
